The MAC Smallbore Shooter of the Month

The MAC Smallbore Shooter of the Month of November is Hannah Goess of the USP Mixed Team. The senior Occupational Therapy Major from Massapequa, NY averaged 529 in three matches in November including a season high of 542 vs Akron at home. As she nears the end of a four year career as an USP top four shooter Hannah can still claim that she has never missed a match while a member of the varsity team.

Coach Paul Klimitas says of Hannah... "she has been one of most loyal and steady rifle shooters over the years. She is the team player, never complains, and is a pleasure to know and coach. I am always amazed at how student-athletes like Hannah can shoot on a varsity team, be an officer in the Omega Chi Psi Service Fraternity and Inter Greek Council, participate in sky diving, and still be on Dean's List last semester. I would take 20 Hannahs if it was possible. Her leadership and consistency will be difficult to replace."

The MAC Air Rifle Shooter of the Month

The MAC Air Rifle Shooter of the Month of November is Jenna Compton from the University of Akron. Compton is a freshman and despite having limited experience in 3 position shooting and almost no experience with the air rifle, Jenna is proving that desire and attitude are two of the key ingredients for success.

Coach Newt Engle offered the following on this first year shooter from Mt Lebanon High School in Pittsburgh PA... "Jenna Compton is starting her freshman year as one of the Akron hotshots after earning high honors as a member of her high school team in Western PA. Despite having limited experience in 3 position shooting and almost no experience with the air rifle, Jenna is proving desire and attitude are two of the key ingredients of success. Jenna started the season on fire and has never looked back. Half way through her first collegiate season Jenna is breaking into the 570's smallbore and 580's with the air rifle. These high marks have placed Jenna 24th in smallbore and 16th in air rifle in the MAC. This is quite an accomplishment in a conference as tough as the MAC. Jenna not only is a scoring leader with the Akron team, but she leads by example making every practice, work out, and match. The sky is the limit for this extremely talented athlete."
