

OCTOBER 2017

The MAC Smallbore Shooter of the Month

The MAC Smallbore Shooter of the Month is Kim Quinn of SUNY Plattsburgh.

Kim Quinn is a sophomore at SUNY Plattsburgh majoring in Biomedical Sciences with a Chemistry minor. Kim had no experience in competitive shooting prior to arriving at SUNY Plattsburgh. Kim fired her first collegiate rifle match against SUNY Maritime on October 21st in Rotterdam NY. She lead the team with a 466 smallbore score, shooting above all her prior practice scores.

As Second Vice President of the Plattsburgh State Marksmanship Club she has demonstrated her leadership ability in helping to coordinate the 30 plus shooters who attend the Markmanship Club's meetings. Kim continues to show tremendous improvement at each practice and we can expect to see great things from her in the near future.

Kim is also the Secretary for Colleges Against Cancer and coordinated the Relay for Life event at Plattsburgh State. Kim is the Secretary for Theta Phi Alpha and a member of the honors program in the schools Student Association.

Kim is from Smithtown New York.

The MAC Air Rifle Shooter of the Month

The MAC Air Rifle Shooter of the Month is Seth Strayer from the United States Coast Guard Academy.

Seth Strayer, a Naval Architecture major, came to Coast Guard as Pennsylvania's 2017 Individual and Team State Air Rifle Champion with experience shooting in the Junior Olympic Championship at Olympic Training Center, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

His maiden collegiate match was against the US Naval Academy in which he established himself by leading the team with a 576 in Air Rifle. Strayer shows an uncommon ability to analyze his shooting and quickly recognizes and adjusts to the ebb and flow of a match.

Quiet and introspective, Seth works well with his coaches to improve his performance. While focused on personal improvement, Seth does not shy away from contributing to the success of his teammates both by example and sharing his insight.
